Good Morning Eric,

Sorry to hear that you won't be making it out to FEMA region 6 today. I know you are busy, but I was wondering if you have any GIS data for the West, TX explosion that you could share with us. I received the initial plume models from IMAAC but response planners are wondering what the effects are going to be to run off and what the upper atmospheric conditions will do to the plume in the next 24 hours.

Anything you can provide to us is greatly appreciated, and if you need anything from us please let me know.

Thank you,
